YOUNG GIRL DIES OF GUNSHOT WOUND MONDAY

Observations...

By UDELL

August 26th, the date of the election of our congressmen, is less than a month away. We in the Sixth Congressional District have the honor of being represented by perhaps one of the ablest men in the United States Congress. The Honorable William M. Colmer is a statesman, and he has ably represented his district and his people throughout his 18 year term. It is hoped that he will be returned this year by you the people whom he serves and who, on August 26th, will be asked to vote for Mr. Colmer or his opponent, Walter S. Lowry. It is unfortunate that the law provides that congressmen must be elected every two years. The expenses and time to be devoted to a campaign over a 17 county district keeps a man on the go. He can hardly come out of one campaign before he is in another. As ably as Mr. Colmer has represented his district, he has not been so fortunate as not to have opposition except on two occasions. Let us hope that the people he is serving will see fit to return him to Washington for the 10th term. He is needed on the job in Washington where his leadership can do much good for us and our country as a whole. We need more men with the ability to lead and serve his constituents to the utmost, such as Bill Colmer in the Congress of the United States.

Word has reached us that several of our citizens have been bitten by dogs in the past couple of weeks. These pets, said to be harmless and let loose on the streets, can be dangerous to passersby. Some provision should be made to keep all dogs in the yard or off the streets in order to avoid some serious mishap.

The work of placing the seal coat on 19 streets in the City of Bay St. Louis is progressing rapidly. In addition to placing the seal coat on the 19 streets treated last year, a number of streets that were repaired during the former administration are going to be resurfaced. Main street, from the Beach to St. Francis street, will be treated in addition to St. John, from St. Francis to Touline; Esterbrook, from St. Francis to Second; Balentine, from Railroad avenue to Third street; Third street to the corner of Hancock; Beach front from Bay View Court to Second street; Dunbar avenue, from the Highway to Main street. All of this work on the streets is being done without an increase in taxes. It is the result of sound financial administration by our City officials. During the past year, our community has made rapid progress toward becoming a live-awake City with improvements for the benefit of its citizens. During their tenure of office, our officials have served the people to the best of their ability, and are always looking forward to the future of Bay St. Louis.

Sylvan J. Ladner Jr., Commissioner of Finance, has announced that, for the convenience of the taxpayers, all tax collections, water rent and gas collections will be collected downstairs in the Natural Gas Division office of the City Hall, starting Monday, August 4, 1952. This change has been made to eliminate the stair climbing necessary before.

Once again, the Bay St. Louis Youth Center has received the support of the people of the community who are interested in the development of the youth of the area. At the close of the drive this week, their quota of $1,000 was topped by $1,068. Your support and encouragement of the teen-agers' organization makes the children feel that you have their interest at heart.

We still need a white line down the center of the Bay of St. Louis bridge, Mr. Smith. It makes it a little difficult for the driver to try and stay on his side of the road without some marker showing him the way. This will prevent many accidents. A bridge proper was started last June and is scheduled for completion in June 1953.

Brothers of Sacred Heart Announce Changes In Faculty For '52 Session

Governor Hugh White And Party Visit Off-Shore Oil Well Near Clermont

Governor Hugh White with representatives of the state mineral lease board, oil and gas board, seafood commission, the Melroe Oil Company, Gulf refining company, members of the press and various other dignitaries, inspected Mississippi's first offshore oil well in the Mississippi Sound about ten miles southwest of Bay St. Louis Monday.

The inspection found that the drill had reached a depth of 7425 feet with no sign of oil to date. Drilling will continue down to 10,000 feet, which should take about three weeks, according to the Gulf officials.

Governor White expressed his hope that the well would be brought in, stating that it would be a "wonderful thing" for the people of the state.

Board Discusses New Plans For An Elementary School

The Board of Trustees of the Bay St. Louis Public Schools held a special meeting with the Mayor and City Commissioners on Friday, August 25, for the purpose of discussing plans and means of financing the construction of a new elementary school building.

T. H. Naylor, director of buildings and transportation for the State Department of Education, was present to consult with the Board and officials. Naylor accompanied the legislative committee that visited the states of Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina recently to study the educational systems of these states.

The Legislature of 1952 appointed a committee to study the needs of the different communities and to make recommendations to a special legislative session to be called upon the completion of the study of the needs of the states as to both teacher salaries and school construction. This committee has begun the study of the school situation of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County by collecting data as to the local needs.

The Board thought it wise to hold in abeyance this matter until it had a report from the committee to the special session. Although plans and specifications for the new building have been completed for some time, the Board has been reluctant to go into the construction of the building entirely on a local financial plan when, a few months wait might bring considerable aid from the state for such building instead of the small amount now available through the Building Commission. The Board has also filed an application, as a number of other Coast schools have done, for Federal aid in school construction because military construction facilities such as Keesler Air Force Base, the Gulfport Naval Base and others have brought an impact upon the local schools. This is due to these facilities being located nearby.

Everything possible is being done by the Board of Trustees to secure some aid, if possible, and to be able to go forward with the earliest possible date with the construction of the building and at the same time utilize all means possible in addition to local finances.

Lacoste Awarded Highway Project

The State highway dept. Monday awarded to Lacoste Inc., of Gulfport, the $300,000 grading and drainage for approaches to the new four-lane highway 90 bridge over Bay St. Louis.

Highway Commissioner John Smith of Mendenhall, said Lacoste's bid of $324,146 was low and accepted by the commission. The second low bid was an offer of $354,020.

Lacoste's contract calls for the dirt work approaches to be built at both ends of the bridge proper and to connect present US Highway 90 at Bay St. Louis with Henderson Point.

The winning firm's work begins August 4. Construction of the bridge proper was started last June and is scheduled for completion in June 1953.

They heard a geologist say that the well was down to 7425 feet in shale, with no oil found yet. They saw the drill in operation with the derris rising 136-feet into the air.

They then split up, some of them going down sea fishing, others including Governor White, returned to Pass Christian and then to Biloxi.

Since the lands are leased from the state, production from any well in the area will not about six per cent on each barrel for the state, plus a royalty. The lands are established as within Mississippi's boundary and are thus free from federal government tideland claims.

The governor, attending a dinner at the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi Sunday night, said Southern political leaders had adopted an attitude of "watchful waiting" in connection with the results of last week's riotous National Democratic Convention.

Mississippi's governor came to the Coast to inspect the first offshore oil well to be drilled in the Mississippi Sound.

Gulf Refining Company and Melroe Oil Company are drilling a test well in Grand Island Pass, off lower Point Clear in Hancock County. The two companies were hosts to the Mineral Lease Board, the Oil and Gas Board, the Seafood Commission, members of other interested parties on Monday's inspection tour of the state's first off-shore drilling operation.

After the guests had been introduced at the Sunday night dinner, Irwin W. Coleman of Gulf's law office in Jackson, acting as master of ceremonies, called on James McClure, chairman of the Oil and Gas Board, Walter Gex, chairman of the Seafood Commission, Ben C. Belt, vice president in charge of production in Gulf's Houston Division, Colonel Joe T. Goodman, general manager of the Shreveport District of Gulf Refining Company, and W. M. Griffith and W. J. Jones, members of Melroe Oil's board of directors, all of whom made brief remarks.

Governor White then gave the report in his week-long attendance at the National Democratic Convention in Chicago. He pointed out the vicious fight over the seating of the contested Mississippi delegation which he headed and praised the valiant delegations from Louisiana, Texas, South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia, all of which delegations stood shoulder-to-shoulder with the Mississippians in the contest with left-wing element of the party.

The inspection party left Biloxi 7:30 a. m. Monday for Pass Christian, where guests boarded the Pan American Clipper for the trip to the well. The Gulf-Melroe lease, consisting of approximately 800,000 acres and covering the entire Mississippi Sound, was obtained last August from the state of Mississippi. This first test well to be drilled in the submerged lands claimed by the state is located in the northwestern corner of the lease.

The "shooting" of this vast area—from the Alabama to the Louisiana boundary and from the mainland to the chain of islands—was the most extensive seismic survey ever conducted in Mississippi. It was stated six months were required for a 30-man crew to complete the job. A representative of the State Seafood Commission accompanied the "shooting party" each day and (Continued on Back Page)

An open verdict, carrying the case over to the grand jury and the district attorney at the circuit court in September has been handed down in the fatal pistol shooting Monday of 17-year-old Claudette Alma Longworth, a subject of British Honduras.

Hancock County sheriff John Egloff said Wednesday that the girl had been living in this county about six months being employed about three months at Alcazar's restaurant and bar, where she was found shot to death.

Two sessions of a coroner's jury failed to reach a decision in the girl's death. A battery of witnesses appeared before the jury Tuesday night, but so many ramifications were found in the testimonies that no verdict could be reached.

ICC Commission Holds Hearing On Proposed Hike In Commuters' Rate

Citizens Respond To C of C Request

A municipal sewer system has been popularly chosen as number one project in a recent citizens' poll conducted by the Chamber of Commerce through the local newspapers. This was announced Wednesday morning by the Advance Planning Committee of the Chamber of Commerce after all ballots had been tabulated. Homer Gregory, president of the Chamber of Commerce stated that he would immediately appoint a committee to work with the city council to push this project through to its final accomplishment.

Such action by the Chamber of Commerce results from its recently adopted program of submitting a list of projects to the general public and allowing it to make its number one selection. "You Pick It, We'll Push It" is the slogan adopted by the Chamber of Commerce for this scheme.

Second most popular projects selected by the public in this citizens' poll were a new, modern and well-equipped library, and a drainage system throughout the community.

Such action by the Chamber of Commerce is the result of the selection of votes by the citizens were all street corners and intersections properly marked with names; better police protection; an able and intelligent committee of the Chamber of Commerce whose purpose would be to encourage more tourist, vacationist and community; and an able and intelligent committee of the Chamber of Commerce whose purpose would be to bring some industrial plant into the community.

Eaton Discusses "Loyalty" Pledges

James S. Eaton, Gulfport attorney and a prominent figure on the Coast in legal, educational and civic circles, spoke on "Individual responsibility and the national interest" before a group of citizens July 29 general meeting of the Bay St. Louis League of Women Voters.

Eaton's talk touched on some debated points concerning the Constitution. He followed by explaining the reason for the several Southern states opposing the loyalty pledge at the recent Democratic convention and cited their separate legal restrictions concerning this issue.

In favor of retaining the Electoral College, Eaton held it as a safeguard and useful device. The young attorney closed the discourse by recommending the reading of "How a President is Chosen," found in the February issue of U. S. Weekly. He stated that the article is highly constructive material for informing the inquisitive layman. Eaton cleared many dubious conceptions in an interrogative period which followed his speech.

The meeting was opened with a short address by the local League's president, Mrs. Paul Miller. She spoke on a recent issue of Life Magazine relative to the educating work the Leagues across the country are doing.

Mrs. Al Weinfertter announced that forty-one new members were recently admitted into the local League, giving the membership a total of 109.

Mrs. Eric Kirkpatrick then led a brief discussion concerning the highlights of the first state convention of Leagues which took place in the spring. Participating in this discussion were Mesdames Charles Beyer, Paul Loup, C. C. McDonald, E. C. Samuel and Miller, who each gave a brief resume of her impressions of the convention. After a two-day hearing in New Orleans, an interstate commerce commission examiner took under advisement Wednesday a petition by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company to increase certain commuter fares between New Orleans and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

A group of commuters called a few of their number to testify on the effect the proposed 40 percent increase in commuter book fares would have on them.

A. T. Palmer, ICC examiner, gave attorneys for the L & N and the opposing Gulf Coast association until September 15 to file briefs. After this date the examiner will submit a report of his findings in the case to ICC Washington officials for action.

Speaking at the hearings at the Jung hotel, commuter George H. Lehtinen, Bay St. Louis, said that since he took up residence on the coast five years ago, his cost of transportation by the railroad has increased from about $11 monthly to a proposed $33 monthly. He said it is his belief that the railroad has broken faith with the commuters.

The majority of opponent witnesses said if the proposed increase is granted, it would hurt them economically.

The president of the Association, E. M. Brignone, Bay St. Louis, said the organization has about 150 members, most of whom would be adversely affected economically if the increase is granted. Within a period of about five years, he said, commuter rates will have increased 300 per cent if the proposed increase is granted.

Walter W. Rausch, executive vice president of the Rausch Naval stores in New Orleans and a resident of Bay St. Louis, told attorneys for the railroad that the "goodwill" of the commuters is worth more than its reported losses in the commuter trains.

Secretary-treasurer of the commuters association, T. E. Schaefer, said that since he became a resident on the coast in 1947, his salary has been increased 21.79 per cent, whereas the cost in commuter tickets has been raised 31.55 per cent.

"I can't say I won't pay it—I won't say I can't pay it—but I'd sure hate to pay it; I hope the L & N won't drive me out of their patronage." Thus spoke C. E. Becker, Lakeshore transportation consultant.

Bratton closed the railroad's case with the disclosure of deficits incurred last month. Commuter trains Nos. 9 and 12 operated at a loss of $145,144 according to the testimony. He said that Nos. 7, 10 and 14 operated at a combined loss of $474,272 during the same period of time.

Theatre Play Showing Progress

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," the next presentation of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, to be given August 14, 15 and 16, is a frothy tale about the sparkling and exuberant escapades of Cornelia Skinner and Emily Kimbrough, who are determined to prove how "mature and cosmopolitan" they can be on an uproarious and charming trip to Europe. Rehearsals for this beguiling comedy are rolling right along, and it is anticipated that "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" will be one of the most amusing comedies the Little Theatre has yet produced. Margo Hand is in charge of the direction.

Glora Biehl will appear in the role of the vivacious young girl, Cornelia, with Carol Turner as her delightful companion, Emily. Mrs. Skinner, who wounds Cornelia's pride with every "But, Baby!" that she utters will be played by Christal Schaeffer. Phillip Allison (Continued on Back Page)

Teen-Agers Hold A Benefit Movie

The benefit show presented by A & G Theater for the Bay St. Louis Youth Center drew a crowd estimated at 150 persons. The show, "How Come the Co-Eds?", starring Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, was enjoyed by all who attended. All ticket receipts, not in as yet, but box office proceeds amount to about $30.

The Youth Center Also Wishes to Announce that its watermelon party will be held this Saturday evening. All members are urged to be at the club building by 6:30 p. m. The party will be held on the beach by the highway bridge.

Coroner Emil Piazza said the case, which first appeared as a suicide, was ordered referred to the grand jury because of conflicting evidence and testimony. The girl's body was found on the head of the stairs on the second floor of the Alcazar restaurant, the old Lombard's place, miles West of Bay St. Louis on Highway 90. A 32-caliber Smith and Wesson pistol was found in steps below the body, according to Sheriff Egloff.

Miss Longworth had been alone once through the heart. It was reported that the gun had been moved before investigating authorities arrived on the scene about 9:45 p. m.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is running laboratory tests of articles found at the scene. Also in evidence is the girl's room, an underground handwashing analysis. Any new evidence will be held for the grand jury.

Witnesses at the Tuesday night session of the coroner's jury included J. E. Hartzog and Mrs. J. E. Walters, manager and owner, respectively of Alcazar's; Mrs. J. Crawford; her mother, Mrs. Bourgeois; and brother, William Bennett.

Coroner Piazza said that Hartzog and Mrs. Walters told officers that they had closed the place and just finished eating supper when the shooting occurred. They said they were talking at the front door, and on hearing the shot, rushed to the stairway and found the girl dead. Another employee, Paul Rhan, was sleeping upstairs at the time.

Piazza said the revolver, used as protection against holdup men, was kept on top of a stack of cases on the stairway.

It was reported that when the British consulate at New Orleans was notified, an official recalled that the young woman had entered this country from Belize in July 1951. A. D. Francis, British Consul general at New Orleans, stated that he understood "there was some talk" about the girl being "very unhappy." He added that he had heard she was mistreated by some of her employers. "I understood that she left the employment of those people and went to work elsewhere," he said.

Coroner Piazza noted that the coroner's jury can be recalled into session at anytime. Members of the jury empaneled by Piazza were Charles Boule Sr., Charles Banderet Jr., Joe Taconi, Norman Hendigo, C. H. & L. E. Schindler, and Edith Gellhorn. Serving as bailiff was deputy sheriff, Charles Boule Jr.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS The girl's body was moved from Fahey's funeral home Thursday. It lay in state at Pearlington Methodist church until 10 p. m. Thursday when Rev. J. P. Bonner conducted religious services. Interment was in Pearlington cemetery.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Alma Marthen, of Belize, British Honduras.

Father Charles at St. Ann's Catholic church in Bayou Caddy at 3:00 p. m. Burial was in Bayou Caddy cemetery.

An Invitation

In the past, we have carried editorials written by citizens interested in the growth and development of our city and county.

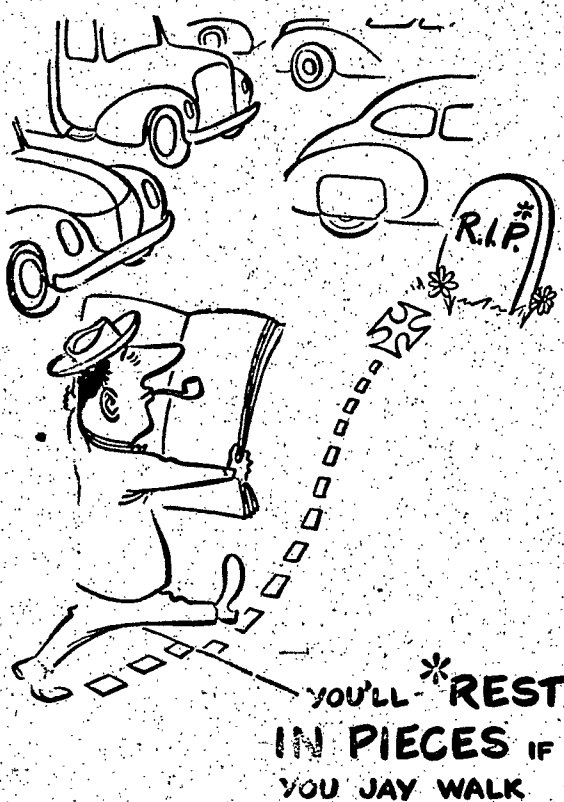

We are always happy to allow anyone the opportunity of expressing his views in matters of public interest, and we extend a general invitation to anyone who may be interested in offering an editorial suggestion or who may want to express his views in letter form for use in our columns.

We feel that a general discussion of our needs will probably enhance our opportunity.

The editor of your paper may express his views and, of course, they are the views of only one human being; it isn't possible for these views to always be correct, and we, above all, will certainly appreciate editorial comments, or letters that may be published, discussing questions that may be of real value and importance in building a bigger and better Hancock County.

We definitely are not limiting our efforts to Bay St. Louis, for with the development of other sections of the County, Bay St. Louis will receive its fair share if proper efforts are put forth.

We would like to have a guest editorial each week from someone who wishes to see his community progress.

Why Cuss Capitalism?

Civilized man has made great strides since the beginning of our Industrial and Scientific era in the early 1800's. The capitalistic system, with its individual freedom, initiative and ingenuity, has gained more of the comforts and conveniences of life than mankind received in the previous 5,000 years put together.

We in the United States, in particular, have been blessed. As the world's foremost capitalistic country, we have achieved by our efforts a security, prosperity, health, happiness and well-being exceeding that of any other nation.

The capitalistic system, primed with the American Way of Thought, provided the incentive that made us a nation of workers and investors, a people richly endowed. Under our traditional system every man who has saved anything for the future is a capitalist.

The American people have a free and clear ownership of 83.4 percent in their farms and homes; they have savings of more than $136 billion in government bonds and savings, with an additional $97 billion on deposit in commercial bank accounts. Our men and women own over $60 billion in life insurance policies. There are over 15,000,000 individual stockholders of corporations. Since 1920 the nation's population has increased 43 percent and its investment in school and college equipment has increased 571 per cent. With only six percent of the world's population and seven percent of its land area, USA produces about 50 percent of the world's manufactured goods, and consumes 90 percent of it within her own boundaries. As our brother's keeper America has given away billions to peoples of the world in goods and gold.

To those who tend to cuss capitalism, what on earth has communism ever done for anybody? As its disciples scheme to confiscate private property and destroy capitalism, where has communism ever delivered the goods to the common man in the measure we have provided?

No nation, no individual, no venture, no private or public institution, no form of welfare can progress or prosper without capital.

It is a good time, therefore, for the believers in the American Way of Thought to testify on behalf of the blessings of capitalism and declare before the world that we are a capitalistic people and proud of it. It is the patriotic duty of every one of us to preserve protect and improve the American Capitalistic System.

County Agent's Notes

By HOWARD SIMMONS

SAVE MONEY ON FRUIT THIS SEASON

Do you raise your own strawberries, peaches and other fruit? It can be done and much more cheaply than buying these fruits on the market.

You can plant strawberries this fall and pick your own berries next spring.

Select well drained medium fertile soil for planting berries in late October and early November. You do not need much space to grow plenty of strawberries for your family. About 500 feet of row space and 500 plants, if planted in the fall should furnish plenty of berries. If you wait until Spring to plant, you will only need 250 plants.

See your local county agent for a list of reliable plant growers. Use recommended varieties for your section. In South and Central Mississippi plant Klondike, Konvoy, Suwanee or Klondike.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Pierson were visitors in Logtown Sunday night.

Other small fruits to be planted this fall include figs, muscadine grapes and blueberries.

From one-fourth acre to one-half acre home orchard in addition to the berries should be ample for the average family. Select well drained soil on high open land so that plenty of air circulation will be available.

Now is the time to select the site for your home orchard and start soil preparation.

This includes deep breaking, disking and the construction of terraces. Remember peaches, plums, apples, pears and pecans do better when planted in the fall.

Careful harvesting of fruit pays dividends in prevention of loss and damage. Harvest fruit by hand picking. Never knock or shake fruit from trees. Remove into shade as soon as possible after picking.

Peach tree borers can be controlled by spraying with DDT in late summer and early fall. Make three applications to kill moths during egg laying season in August, September and October.

Make the first application on the trunks and lower branches around August 1. See your county agent and get a copy of the 1952 edition of the Mississippi Spray Calendar.

Watch out for webworms on pecans. The first webs usually show up on lower branches and can be burned or cut out before they cause too much damage. Webworms can be controlled with one pound of calcium and other good stomach poison will do the job.

GETTING STARTED IN FARMING

So you want to be a farmer. Perhaps you want to go in partnership with your father, or father-in-law. Here are 10 essentials to any successful farming partnership.

1. You, and if you are married, your wife, must want to farm more than to do anything else. 2. Living conditions must be satisfactory for both you and your partner. 3. You must be able to "get along" with your partner. 4. You and your partner must both believe that a partnership is desirable. 5. The farm business must be large enough to support two families. 6. You, as well as your partner, must have a knowledge of farming. 7. Both of you must have management ability. 8. Both of you must use good judgment in the use of money and credit. 9. Your partnership must cover the entire farm business. 10. The partnership agreement must be fair to both of you and should be written.

Free Enterprise
Lauded in Film;
Obtain From MEC

A new film which graphically explains basic facts of the American free enterprise system is now available to civic clubs, schools, churches and other groups interested in the subject, Guy Land of Clarksdale, chairman of the Mississippi Economic Committee in charge, reports.

Mr. Land explained that the film is entitled "Backfire," and is based upon a true experience of a high school economics teacher, who was interested in showing his class the demerits of socialism.

The chairman said there is no charge for the film, but that all requests should be mailed to the "Backfire" Committee, in care of the MEC, P. O. Box 1849, Jackson. It will be booked to the group desiring to see the film.

"Our committee frankly believes the film shows more about our economic system in 15 minutes than can be put across in textbooks in several months," the chairman said. "We trust every Mississippi will at some time or another view the film, especially our young people."

FIFTY YEARS AGO
The next session of the University of Mississippi opens September 18. Twenty-five schools in the departments of science, literature and the arts, professional courses in law, electrical engineering, mining, engineering, pedagogy.

Tuition is free to men and women, except in law school. All expenses are very low. The University has complete water, sewer, lighting and heating systems. It has perfect sanitation, with the purest deep well water. "Special accommodation for women students. Also special opportunities for students of limited means."

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO
The number of men and women teachers in the rural schools of Mississippi last year numbered 6,875, a report compiled by the department of education shows. Average salaries for these teachers during the last year session was shown to have been $73.05 per month, and the length of the term for the 42 counties was 125 days, or 8 1/4 months.

As its July feature, the Hancock County Library Board presented Mrs. Louis Pate in a most interesting and informative lecture on "The Opera House of South America," which was given in her usual charming manner.

Mrs. Pate said that long before statesmen had formulated plans for a friendly union of the two Americas, a sympathetic union existed through an exchange of operatic. She noted the trend of Opera from South America to this country and to New Orleans where the first Opera House built in the United States was erected.

HOME AGENT NOTES

DON'T FORGET

FIRST AID KIT

by MADGE ALLRED

Many a car is being packed for the family vacation and loaded down with everything from mosquito spray to tooth picks. Don't forget your first aid kit.

Camping, picnicking or most any kind of summer outing can mean insect bites, cuts, bruises, scratches and possibly sprains. Put in your first aid equipment and let it accompany every boat and every "outing party."

Be sure some member of your group is trained in life saving and water safety—or you and the children should stay out of the water. None of you should swim in treacherous waters. Some tricks in water are fun, but keep them from reaching the dangerous point.

Keep an eye out for all swimmers regardless of age or experience. Cramps can attack anyone at any time. Life preservers are lifesomes and do take up a lot of room, but they are essential equipment to any fishing boat. Excitement, tension and fear have drowned many a good swimmer.

No one invites danger and peril to accompany him on a vacation trip, but they go along just the same. Be on the watch for them and prevent them from taking over and spoiling a well earned vacation.

OUTDOOR LIVING
Summer weather gives most every family the urge to move outdoors in the cool of the evening for a nice steak supper or a backyard picnic. If you can't get away for a vacation, an outdoor living room in your yard can make it lots more fun to "vacation at home."

An outdoor fireplace may range from a simple makeshift to an elaborately equipped structure that harmonizes with the architecture of your house. Whatever type you choose, make it practical to use and yet not a fire hazard or an eyesore.

Your home can furnish you a blue print for building an outdoor fireplace of brick or concrete block. Call or write for one of the plans.

Two and a half square feet of cooking surface is the desired space in an outdoor fireplace. The cooking surface should be accessible from both sides and arranged to let several people cook at the same time.

Don't place the fireplace too near shrubbery or under trees. The heat and smoke might damage or burn the foliage. Select a slight rise or a gentle slope with good drainage as the place for the fireplace.

For other comforts of outdoor living, ask your county agent or Home Demonstration Agent for plans to build lawn furniture. Ask for Plan No. 7101-23 for building a wooden lawn bench. Plan No. 7101-24, for a wooden lawn armchair. Plan No. 7101-25, for a porch or lawn chair.

LANDSCAPE PLAN
A simple landscape plan is recommended for a n y home grounds. You can make changes and rearrangement of shrubs on paper much more easily than you can make changes on the grounds later on.

The plan is most useful in estimating numbers of plants needed.

—Dan Favre of Oklahoma City, was called home because of the illness and death of his mother, Mrs. Sadie McArthur.

—Miss Joyce L. Creel and Mrs. D. LeBlanc of New Orleans were week-end visitors of Mrs. Georgia Creel.

—Mrs. J. D. Creel and sons, David, Tommy and Jimmy, have joined Ensign J. D. Creel at New London, Connecticut.

—Mrs. Thelma Roberts has just returned from visiting Ensign and Mrs. J. D. Creel and sons of New London, Connecticut.

ed. If you do not plan to do the entire landscape job at once, you will find a plan essential.

If you are living in the belief that you don't need religion... that all you have to do is to believe in Catholics believe that God created us for a definite purpose... that He gave us the intelligence to recognize what that purpose is—and the means to fulfill it. It is through our religion that we give evidence of our desire to honor and serve God. It is through religion that we approach God in faith, repentance, love and gratitude.

Religion is simply the consequence of our realization of Who God is. It is our striving to be honest and consistent with this knowledge—to learn and fulfill our duties to our Creator.

No - Belief in God
Is NOT Enough!

Many people are risking their eternal salvation on a "religion" of their own... which is actually no religion at all.

"Oh, I believe in God," they say, "but I don't go to church. I'm just not the religious type."

Almost everybody, of course, believes that there is a God. Common sense tells us that this is so. But if we actually believe there is a God, should not this same common sense tell us we must do something about it? And how can we give expression to our belief in God if not through religion?

Religion is simply the consequence of our realization of Who God is. It is our striving to be honest and consistent with this knowledge—to learn and fulfill our duties to our Creator.

ADVANTAGE OF CUTTING HAY EARLY SHOWN

Although the total yield of Johnson grass hay was higher when the crop was cut in the late milk stage, cutting the hay in the early boot stage produced considerably more gain per acre in a test involving dairy heifers at the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station.

A first year seeding of Johnson grass from which one previous cutting had been removed was divided into strips. Alternate strips were cut on August 9, 1951, when most of the plants were in the early boot stage. These same strips were cut again at the same stage of maturity on October 4. The other strips were cut on September 15 when the majority of the plants were in the late milk stage. The average yield per acre was 1489 pounds in August and 1232 pounds in October, giving a total yield of 2701 pounds of hay per acre for the two cuttings of immature hay. The one cutting of mature hay yielded 3580 pounds per acre.

Starting November 16, a group of 8 yearling dairy heifers was fed the early-cut Johnson grass hay for 84 days, and another similar group was fed the late cut hay. With concentrates fed at the same level with both types hay, it required slightly over 2 pounds of mature hay to produce as much gain as was produced by 1 pound of the immature hay. Since the total pounds of hay per acre was three-fourths as much when cut in the boot stage as in the mature stage, this difference in feeding value for each pound of hay would give one and one-half times as much gain in weight from one acre of Johnson grass hay cut in the boot stage as when cut in the late milk stage.

Dr. J. T. Miles and J. W. Lusk conducted the experiment which was reported in detail in the July issue of Mississippi Farm Research. The research center concluded: "Since milking cows give a more noticeable response to palatability and digestibility of the roughage portion of the ration, early cutting should give even more favorable results when the hay is fed to the milking herd than when fed to growing heifers."

Gas Tax Places State In Pay-As-You-Go Operation

Mississippi's gasoline tax collections for the month of July ran to $2,951,791.84. Collections for June of this year ran slightly higher, or $3,097,102.85.

From these funds, placing Mississippi roadbuilding on a pay-as-you-go plan $1,259,770.19 or 27 percent went to the State Highway Department with distribution on August 1st.

Out of the June collection, $1,441,469.32 of the original $3,097,102.85 went to the Highway Department. Distribution is made under Legislative direction.

Vision Plays Part In Safe Driving

Obscured vision was a factor in one out of every eight of the fatal automobile accidents last year according to the National Safety Council.

"Accident Facts," the Council's statistical yearbook, which is just off the press, shows that nearly half of the visual obstructions were rain, snow and sleet on the windshield. A fourth of the obstructions were trees, buildings and other things along the highway or adjacent to it. The remaining fourth resulted from parked and moving cars.

Glare from headlights or the sun was reported infrequently. Out of 20 states reporting interest in vision, 11 reported no drivers blinded by headlights—all these 11 states had more than 9,000 drivers who were involved in fatal accidents.

Claims Socialism Is Fostered By Government

"Creeping socialism has been fostered by the government in its persistent attacks on business profits," declared Floyd Sherrod, Memphis business man, in an address before the current sessions of the Mississippi Workshop on Economic Education at the University of Mississippi.

"The human hope, which inspires men to work hard in the hope of material rewards which they may use as they see fit to enrich their lives is stifled wherever and whenever the government eliminates the chance of profits by taxation, regulation, or any other arbitrary method." This was the warning offered by Sherrod who is president of the Road Builders Supply Company in Memphis and noted Southern lecturer.

Talking on "The Role of Profits in the American Economy" the Memphian lashed out against those who criticize business. Many people seem to think that because one is engaged in a business of his own that automatically he must be making a large profit. There never has nor will there ever be, a time when every business undertaking is making a profit and close looks at the record will prove that thousands of business ventures fail even in the most prosperous years.

Sherrod listed four fundamental factors effecting the regulation of profits: (1) the supply of investment capital; (2) the supply

WHAT'S YOUR ESTIMATE of the Cooking Cost?

U-m-m, steaks for dinner — tender, juicy, delicious. Everybody knows how meat prices have increased since 1940. But, did you know the natural gas required to broil a steak like this — enough for the whole family — still costs less than a penny?

Smart, modern housewives are still buying natural gas service for mere pennies here in the Gulf South. No other item in the family budget performs so many wonderful services — so economically — as natural gas. We think you'll agree it's worth many times what it costs today!

INFORMATION

By R. G. (Manny) Hubbard
Supervisor, Beat 5

Back in February, I informed the people they had an illegal millage imposed on them. The levy then was 45¢ mills. A state tax man came down and informed the Board it would have to bring the levy down to its legal point of 27 mills. The rest of the Board has decided to raise assessments. It seems that if they cannot get it out of you one way, they try another.

On Friday, July 18, Supervisor Jones made a motion which was seconded by Supervisor Lott, to increase assessments 100%. Voting "yes" were Jones, Lott and Keller. Voting "no" were Hubbard. I submitted a resolution agreeing to lower the millage to its legal point, but opposing the raising of taxes. The motion of Supervisor Jones was agreed on by the majority of the Board only four days before the deadline of the tax rolls being opened to the public. It would be impossible for one man to go over the tax rolls of the entire county fairly and justly in four days. Consequently, the books were divided between three Supervisors with agreement of the Board, over my protest, to raise each assessment 100%.

This increase of 100% on the assessment will not affect in dollars and cents the people who are

Ex Army Members Privilege To End

Ex-Army personnel, who have been retired for any reason between 1944 and April 27, 1952, and who haven't yet taken advantage of the travel and shipment of household goods authorized them, must do so prior to April 27, 1953 or forfeit the privilege according to a recently announced Department of Army policy.

Army travel regulations in effect since 1944 authorized retired personnel to travel and to ship their household goods "to the home selected upon retirement at government expense until a date one year of peace with Japan, April 23, of this year, ending any state of war which existed in 1944, now fixes the expiration date of the above regulation.

With the establishment of the termination date for the war and postwar regulations, the pre-World War II regulations become effective again. Army personnel retiring on or after April 28, 1952 must make application for shipment of household goods and complete their necessary travel within one year of the date of their retirement.

Retired Army personnel affected by these regulations should contact the transportation officer at their nearest military installation without delay.

receiving Homestead Exemption on their property, but it will affect all land owners who do not receive Homestead Exemption on their assessment, particularly our New Orleans people who have summer homes here, and our business houses of Beat 5.

The people of Beat 5 have been burdened with 75% of the taxes of the entire county, and I feel it an unjust act for this Board to make them suffer for the false levy that has been imposed on the taxpayers in the past.

The business houses and the people of Beat 5 depend upon and try to encourage the New Orleans people to locate on our Gulf Coast. I feel this action by the rest of the Board is working directly against the civic efforts of progress made by our Chamber of Commerce, Business Houses and City officials.

Since I was outvoted on assessing the people fairly, the only course left to me now is to inform you of the action taken, and urge you to go to the Clerk's office and file a written protest that equalization does not exist. As I see it, that is the only means by

Keble Faculty To Operate Preparatory School

The class building and dormitories at Keble College are modern, fireproof and overlook the Gulf of Mexico.

The President's home and hospital are air conditioned. The climate is semi-tropical and warm and healthful all year long.

The Keble College Educational Foundation will open a four-year high school on September 8, 1952, to be known as the De Koven Preparatory School, according to an announcement made by the vice chairman of the board of trustees, Mrs. Ruth H. Whitfield, of Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

The preparatory school will be administered separate from the college, but will share many of the same faculty. The school will be accredited during its first year and all credits earned will readily transfer to college.

The high school will emphasize pre-professional preparation for college as well as the usual vocational objectives. Emphasis will be upon scholarship and the social, psychological and emotional maturities. A testing, guidance, and counseling schedule will be an important aspect of the high school program.

De Koven students will have full use of the Keble College buildings and facilities. The preparatory school is interested primarily in day students, and no provision has been made up to this time for boarding students on the secondary level.

Admission to the De Koven Preparatory School will be limited during the first year and applications should be made for admission as early as possible. Opportunity for instruction in the fine arts and music will be available through the college faculty. The Dean of the De Koven Preparatory School will be the Rev. Douglas R. Mac Laury, who will also continue as Administrator of the national education program of the Keble College Educational Foundation.

The Rev. Douglas R. Mac Laury stated that "the De Koven Preparatory School would be kept deliberately small in order to provide the maximum teaching-learning exposure between students and faculty. He said, "Parents interested in providing their children with a fine secondary education in a beautiful environment, in company with an outstanding faculty are invited to consider the De Koven Preparatory School."

Miss Rita L. Boh Becomes Bride Of Marion J. Wolfe Jr. July 26

High noon Saturday, July 26, in Our Lady of the Gulf Cathedral, Miss Rita, Leonard's daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Milton Boh, became the bride of Marion Joseph Wolfe, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Wolfe, Sr.

Most Rev. A. J. Gmelch performed the double ring ceremony before a group of guests with white chrysanthemums, asters and tube roses.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, wore a gown of chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice ended in long sleeves and the full skirt formed a train. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held to the head with a Juliet cap. She carried an heirloom silver prayer book with a cascade arrangement of lilacs of the valley centered with a white orchid.

son as best man. Groomsmen were A. P. Guizerix, cousin of bridegroom, of New Orleans; Bernard Wolfe, his brother, Louis Stachle, Robert Boh, brother of the bride and Ed Brignac, all of Bay St. Louis and James Davis of Lake Charles, Louisiana. Ushers were Robert Vetter, New Orleans; Lucien Gex Jr., Bay St. Louis; and Al Burns, Gulfport.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the garden of the bride's parents. Palms formed the background of the receiving lines with baskets of white flowers on either side. Mrs. Wolfe and Mrs. Boh assisted the bridal party in receiving.

The couple left on a short trip to Florida. For traveling the bride wore a blue suit with navy accessories and a red velvet hat.
